* Benefits

Native to Spain, the piquillo pepper adds an exotic sweetness and fruitiness to our buttery and crisp artichokes. The result is a balanced and bright bite that lends itself to anything from a cheese plate (pair with Manchego) to a classic chicken and rice bowl. One of the main quality attributes to look for in an artichoke is the consistency and makeup of the piece size. The leaves should remain intact and have a budding flower-like appearance. Divina artichokes from Peru are highly graded and provide the consistency that chefs and consumers value.
