* Benefits

Shooting Star Creamery began with the hope of inspiring a younger generation to take up the art of creating delicious artisan cheese. The brainchild of Avery Jones, the daughter of Central Coast Creamery founder. Reggie Jones, Shooting Star is a true family collaboration. Central Coast Creamery, which has served as a great mentor and advisor, has allowed Avery to take risks with her cheese and have a baseline for her recipes. They called this company Shooting Star Creamery to reflect on their belief of shooting for the stars.

Avery Jones is a college student who has been helping her father make cheese for nearly half of her life. She uses Shooting Star Creamery to help pay for her college education and also gives a percent of profits to veterans and amputees organizations in our community.
