* Benefits

Cordillera 70% Colombian Single Origin Dark Chocolate

Our name, Cordillera, comes from a Spanish word that means mountain range. That name pays tribute to the rich soil in Latin American countries where our cacao beans are manually harvested using sustainable practices by people who carefully watch over every step of the chocolate-making process.

Cordillera is born from an exacting blend of Trinitarian cacao that perfectly balances all its attributes. We roast the cacao to highlight the unique sensory elements of fine flavor cacao from Colombia, Ecuador, and Peru that is characterized by floral and fruit notes. During the conching process we carefully select the ideal temperature, time, and blending conditions to create perfect flavors and textures in the final product.

Ingredients

Cocoa mass, sugar, cacao powder, cocoa butter, emulsifier (soy lecithin) and natural vanilla flavor

Prep & Cooking Suggestions

In a warming chamber or microwave oven, melt the couverture between 45 and 50C (113-122F). Once it has melted, separate 2/3 of the product and lower the temperature to 28C (80.6F). Once it has reached the temperature, incorporate the 1/3 to complete the product. The final temperature must be at 32C (87,8F).
