

SUNVALLEY

059830 - Raisin Individual Box

raisins are grown, harvested, and processed in the central valley of California, USA. Our supplier utilizes a variety of programs to ensure we provide customers with a wholesome quality product while protecting the environment. California raisins are received and inspected by the USDA under a federal marketing order to verify they meet minimum requirements for processing. Upon clearance from the USDA, the product is processed using state-of-the-art cleaning and packaging systems. California seedless raisins can be used in a variety of culinary creations, cereals/cereal bars, salad bars, and snack mix applications. They are an excellent choice as a stand alone snack providing many nutritional benefits. California raisins are quite possibly the most perfect sustainable dried fruit in that they are dried using only the natural sunshine and contain no additives or non-inherent preservatives.
